NOTHING IN THE SHOW WINDOW

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK Dean of Men, Uffiversity of Illinois.

THE little shops in Florence and Naples and Venice have always alluring fascination in the window displays which one sees as he walks along the streets—a fuscination which it is almost impossible to resist. There is a dislilusionment often, however, when one enters the shop. The stock is all in the window, one finds; there is no reserve, no variety from which to choose. The goods in the window have been beautifully diswant to buy anything it must be taken the stock over, you'll have to go out and look in. It's very disappointing. People are often like that; they carry all their stock in trade in the show window; they have nothing in reserve. Schram's Ramblers played a num-ber of selections during the affair but when you look into their characters there is nothing to back it up.

state," says Fred W. his home town, Conzad, Nebraska that with all his natural enthusiasm before the convention of the Interstate Merchants' Council at Chicago last week, you would have begun to rigid economy in expenditures, understand how he has built up a since that time, while deman last week, you would have begun to understand how he has built up a since that time, while demanding general store business that amounts economy and an easing up in nation-to $300,000 a year in a town of 1,300 It was a fascinating story he told. Many are not aware that they pay any taxes, but heavy taxes make a laying around in every good little town ready to be picked up. It also sary to reduce local as well as nation convinced those present that if you all taxes.

convinced those present that if you al taxes. have the "stuff" you can make a big business out of life, regardless of where you live.

when he grew older he began to work toward that goal. He learned all about merchandise and merchan dising, but the greatest thing that he learned, or perhaps it naturally came to him, was to be a good fellow and n along in every sible way. Here are some of the little things, he says, that help make a business big: We get on friendly terms wit

the farmers when they drive in, and we help them carry their groceries

'We have a league baseball tean in our town, and our store finances the team through the season. We put on free movie shows. We let organizations hold sales in our store. We support the local newspaper. We believe in trying to get ahead that

"We like the town and its people we listen to their stories because we are never too good to talk to any-body."

These are simple rules, but mix from the past two months.

Martin L. Davey, member of Congress from fourteenth district, Ohio has introduced a bill in Congress to give the President blanket power for two years to reorganize the business structure of the Government—also statement giving the reasons for it.

"For seven years," Mr. Davey says.
"I have observed the Departments and Bureaus of the Government at Washington at close range, having had official business with nearly all garents. At the committee on program sure did fine. The life pictures when the spot-light was turned on were great. There were so many good ones we cannot give any special comment. April 27th—next meeting—don't forget the date. Be there.

There are thousands upon thousands of unnecessary employes and endless duplication of alleged effort. There is an inexcusable waste of much more than a half-billion dollars a year.

"The tendency is to increase, rather than to diminish, the personnel and expenses of government." rive the President blanket power for er than to diminish, the personnel and expenses of government.

"The thing proposed in my Bill ought to be done. In all probability it is the only way that it ever will be done. It is doubtful if real government reorganization will be accomment reorganization. blished by Congressional action. The question is, will Congress pass such a drastic measure? Congress will de

The ice is thick above and below the locks and shows no signs of breaking. Walking is still the favorite method of communication between the Soos and a team of horses occasionally crosses the channel. Opening of naviga-tion is considered probable between April 15 and April 20.

> Despite numerous rebuffs received in the past on like applications, ratiroads in Michigan continue to file applications and hold hearings before the Michigan Public Utilities Commission for discontinuance of station agent service at many of the small towns in the state. Lack of adequate revenue is given as the reason for such applications, the plan of the railroads being to de-mand pre-payments on all freight shipped to such towns and have pas-sengers pay on the trains.

Heretofore Gray Wolf had warned him back. To be alone was the first law of her wild breed during methering-time. A low snari from he throat, and Kasan had always stopped. But on this day the snart did not come In Gray Wotf's throat it died away in toneliness, of gladness, of a great yearning. "It is all right now," she was saying to Kazan; and Kazanpausing for a moment to make surereplied with an answering note deep m his throat.

Still slowly. ... if not quite sure of what he would find, Kazan came to them, and Bures snuggled closer to his mother. He heard Kazan as he dropped down heavily on his belly close to Gray Wolf. He was unnfraid and mightly curious. And Kazan, too, was curious. He sniffed. In the gloom his ears were alert. After a little Baree began to move. An inch at a time he dragged himself away. If it had not been for Gray Wolf's blindness and the memor that day on the Sun rock when the lynx had destroyed her eyes, she would have given birth to Baree in the open and his legs would have been quite strong. He would have known the sun and the moon and the stars; he would have realized what the thunder meant, and would have seen the lightning flashing ti the sky. But as it was there ha been nothing for him to do in that stumble about a little in the darkness and lick with his tiny red tongue the raw bones that were strewn abou them. Many times he had been left and go, and nearly always it had been in response to a yelp from Kazan that came to them like a distant echo. He hig, cool tongue caressed his face. In those wonderful seconds nature was a until then. And when Kazan went Baree whimpered for him to com mother when now and then she had a ray of light could break. in an instant the whole world had changed. It was a flood of sunlight, Everywhere he looked he could see strange things. But it was the sun that frightened him most. It was his first impression of fire, and it made his eyes smart. He would have slunk back into the friendly gloom of the windfall, but at this moment Gray Wolf came around the end of a great log. followed by Kazan. She muzzled Barce Joyously, and Kazan in a mo doglike fashion wagged his tail. This murk of the dog was to be a part of Baree. Half wolf, he would always wag his tail. He tried to wag it now. Perhaps Kazan saw the effort, for he emitted a muffled yelp of approbation as he sat back on his haunches.

"Well, we've got the little rascal out of that windfall at last haven't we?" For Baree it had been a great day. He had discovered his father-and the Pacific islanders are probably th cleanest people on earth, for they spend a good part of every day in the water, and may be said to be almost as amphibious as sents. The children learn to swim almost as soon as they learn to walk. If the village happens to be at some distance from the shore a swimming pool is formed in a near by stream, and there mixed bathing is indulged in several times every day: With the skin constantly greased with coconut oil, the pulp of the bitter green orange makes a good soap and lathers freely. Dame Nature also supplies them with scrubbers, the husks of the coconut, and this they apply to their shining bodies very vigorously. Their towel is provided by the sun and wind.

Swimming to Work

When Windows "Sweat" The aweating of wandows is due to imperfect ventilation, and it perfect rentitation could be obtained it would probably give the most effective re-sults. In many cases openings are made in the sash, top and bottom, ac that a current of cold air may cover the interfor side of the glass. In some instances, where the sweating of win-dows is not so bad, 55 grams of glycerin is dissolved in 1 liter of alcohol (63 per cent), to which a little amber oil is added. As soon as it is thoroughly mixed, it may be rubbed-on-the inside surface of the window with a changis or linen rag. A thin coat o pure glycerin-applied to both sides of the gluss will prevent moisture:

HOME, DAD AND THE BOY

The Grouchy Dad ET'S give him the advantage of the doubt-likely he suffers from indigestion.

For years he has made it a habit of his life to look for trouble and he has been wonderfully successful He looks upon every carefree, exuberant, noisy, dirty, fun-loving boy as a necessary nuisance that must be tolerated against the day he matures and can shift for him-

He is always looking for the ulterior motive in every boy situaanything worthwhile in the boy.

He is as friendly with his boy as are two strange buildogs.

He doesn't realize there is an incre sense in breaking the will of a boy than there is in sandbagging the engineer of a train. the engineer of a train.

Fifty thousand American boys revolted against grouchy Dads in this United States last year and ran away from home. Yet a broken window is more easily mended than a ruined boy and any boy will tell the truth when he is not scared into lying.

A lot of farms are dying right before the owners face and eyes. Some lime, green mature and acid phosphate would stop this.

Let's get rid of these dinky little fields and patches of crops. It takes a lot less time either to plow, drag, cultivate or mow an acre in a large field than in a small one.

Big Wages for Farmers

A farmer can make wages equal to a doctor's, lawyer's, or other professional men, by testing his seed corn before planting.

Most of us can test in one day all we will plant this spring. Poor business to test seed corn in the field;

mess to test seed corn in the field; yet many do so. That is in keeping with other careless things they do in running a farm; yet, they expect a mismanaged farm to pay a profit!

Sorry to say that stocks of dependable seed corn, with a guaranteed germination, are reported as becoming low. I'd order now. Seed corn at $8 a bushel is cheaper per acre than seed oats. Produces more feed.

Horses are becoming scarce and prices are bound to rise soon. No matter how few potatoes you plant it will pay you, as it has paid others, to use certified seed. The Gounty agent will gladly help you find them. Make a quick trip in the tuto to get them.

A Purebred Farm

A prominent business man of Grayling, who has always been a kindly booster for better farming and County Agent work, said: "If I were

it would be better, pay better and be a great source of satisfaction to me for my work." He said, "I could not be content to do as so many do—feed

Our Crawford county users of

-banhate and choice lime, acid phosphate and choice Grimm alfalfa seed, in past years, are ordering more this spring. That's pretty good proof. Quite a number of our farmers have wisely ordered guaranteed seed corn, even at $7.50 a bushel, plus ter a year from now?

A determined man would have sold hay this year; or, are you going to a steer, or have hauled wood to town, the the chance slip past?

Those who feed the soil, the soil.

Washington Advised High Yields
It was in 1791 that George Washington wrote a letter in which he

"The aim of the farmers of this are good managers in anything.

Every country has its farmers who have tived there 30 to 40 years without provid been; where and its farmer in England, ing ice, and other conveniences and where land is dear and alabour cheap comforts, and who have got up wood finds it his interest to improve and by the "jag" all that time, always on the last armful.

The Wise Farmer

There was a man in our town There was a man in our town
And he was wondrous wise
He knew that if he wanted crops
He'd have to fertilize.
It's nitrogen that makes things green

food
On a wet and soggy field;
('Il surely have to put in drains
If I'd increase the yield. If I'd increase the yield.

And after I have drained the land
I must plow it deep all over;
And even then I'll not succeed,
Unless it will grow clover.

Now acid soils will not produce
A clover soil that's prime;
So if I have a sour soil,
I'll have to put on lime.
And after doing all these things,
To make success more sure,
I'll try my very best to keep
From wasting the manure.

o I'll drain, and lime, and cultivate,
With all that that implies;
And when I've done that thoroughly
I'll manure and fertilize,
